

WRP Database Launching in December

The Workforce Recruitment Program for College Students with Disabilities (WRP), a no cost sourcing resource for public and private businesses, can help your company identify qualified candidates and veterans with disabilities to fill internships or permanent positions. The WRP campus recruitment interviews have concluded for students and recent graduates on over 300 college and university campuses. From these interviews, the 2013 WRP database, comprised of more than 3,000 candidates, will be launched during the first week of December. Click here for more information about WRP.
